6. International Transfers

As we operate internationally, in some cases, where your personal data is transferred to another Kennedy Wilson company or third party, it is processed in countries other than the country in which you are resident. These countries may have data protection laws that are different to the laws of your country (and, in some cases, may not be as protective).

Specifically, our group companies are based in the UK, Ireland and the USA. Our third-party service providers and partners operate are primarily located within the EEA and UK but may also operate around the world. This means that when we collect your personal data we will process it in any of these countries.

Where we transfer your personal data to countries and territories outside of the European Economic Area and the UK, which have been formally recognised as providing an adequate level of protection for personal data, we rely on the relevant “adequacy decisions” from the European Commission and “adequacy regulations” (data bridges) from the Secretary of State in the UK. For example, we are able to transfer personal data between the UK and Ireland based offices on the basis of the mutual EU and UK adequacy decisions.

Where the transfer is not subject to an adequacy decision or regulations, we have taken appropriate safeguards to ensure that your personal data will remain protected in accordance with this Notice and applicable laws. The safeguards we use to transfer personal data in the case of our group companies are the European Commission’s Standard Contractual Clauses as issued on 4 June 2021 under Article 46(2) for controller to controller, transfers, including the UK Addendum, permitted under Article 46(2) of the UK GDPR for the transfer of data originating in the UK.

The safeguards we use to transfer personal data are in case of our in case of our third party service providers and partners, are the European Commission’s Standard Contractual Clauses as issued on 4 June 2021 under Article 46(2) for controller to controller and controller to processor transfers, including the UK Addendum permitted under Article 46(2) of the UK GDPR for the transfer of data originating in the UK.

7. Your Rights (EEA/UK)

Subject to the conditions and exceptions in applicable law, you have the following rights regarding your personal data:

- Right of access – To obtain confirmation as to whether we process your personal data and to receive a copy of that data.
- Right to rectification – To have inaccurate personal data corrected and incomplete data completed.
- Right to erasure – To request deletion of your personal data in certain circumstances (for example, where it is no longer needed for the purposes for which it was collected, or where you withdraw consent and there is no other legal basis for processing).

- Right to restriction – To request we restrict processing of your personal data in certain situations (for example, while we verify accuracy or consider an objection).
- Right to data portability – To receive certain personal data in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable format and transmit it to another controller, where technically feasible.
- Right to object – To object, on grounds relating to your particular situation, to our processing of your personal data based on legitimate interests.
- You have the right to opt-out of marketing communications we send you at any time. If you wish to withdraw your consent to receive marketing materials, this can be done by:
 - updating your preferences on your online account, if you have one
 - clicking on the unsubscribe link on any emails we send you; or
 - emailing us at privacy@kennedywilson.com.
- Right to withdraw consent – Where we rely on consent, you may withdraw it at any time. Withdrawing your consent will not affect the lawfulness of any processing we conducted prior to your withdrawal, nor will it affect processing of your personal data conducted in reliance on lawful processing grounds other than consent.
- Rights regarding automated decision-making – Where applicable, to request human review of decisions based solely on automated processing that produce legal or similarly significant effects.

To exercise your rights, please contact us at privacy@kennedywilson.com and indicate that your request relates to GDPR/UK GDPR. We may need to verify your identity before fulfilling your request and will respond in accordance with applicable law.

You also have the right to lodge a complaint with your local data protection authority. Contact details for EEA authorities are available here, and the UK supervisory authority is the Information Commissioner’s Office (ICO) available here. Certain supervisory authorities will require that you exhaust our own internal complaints process before looking into your complaint. We respond to all requests we receive from individuals wishing to exercise their data protection rights in accordance with applicable data protection laws.

8. Changes to This Notice

We may update this Notice from time to time to reflect changes in our practices, technologies, or legal requirements. Any changes will be posted on the Website with an updated “Last updated” date and, where required, we will provide additional notice (for example, by displaying a banner or sending a communication).
